The background of the entire image is a dark blue, textured abstract artwork. It features organic, cellular, and fibrous forms, possibly resembling a microscopic view of tissue or a complex network of fibers. A prominent white horizontal line runs across the upper portion of the image, starting from the left edge and ending on the right edge, partially overlapping the top of the word 'firmament'.

Paul Liptrot invites you to his exhibition 'Firmament' - which asks you to see beyond the horizon and beneath the surface.

The firmament is the arch of the sky that prevents us from seeing beyond our everyday perception. Through a series of light installations and wall based work you will get a glimpse inside worlds and galaxies which have been brought to life by Paul's fascination with materials.
